

Maternal Health

- Rural women face higher maternal mortality rates (29.4 maternal deaths per 100,000) in comparison to urban women (18.2 maternal deaths per 100,000).<sup>13</sup>
- An estimated 42.3% of all births in the U.S relied on Medicaid in 2018.<sup>14</sup>
- Women over the age of 35 have 1.2 times the risk of developing pre-eclampsia.<sup>15</sup> Women aged 40 or older are 30 times more at risk of heart-disease related maternal death compared to women younger than 20 years.<sup>5</sup>
- Incarcerated pregnant women are more likely to face barriers to access to regular and immediate quality care, as there is a lack of standardization and requirements for OB/GYN services. The 2015 National Health Survey of Prison 59tan Pr0 e 1T Sen.7 (hT)